Introduction

I began the monoblogue Accountability Project in 2008 as the successor to an earlier effort called the Maryland Accountability Project. It graded all 188 members of the General Assembly on whether they voted in what the author considered a conservative manner or not. Since the creator of the project moved on to other things I took up the baton, with my first year's work incorporating three sessions: the 2007 Regular Session, the 2007 Special Session, and the 2008 Regular Session. I continued the project for the entire 2007-10 electoral term and began anew with the 2011 session.

Over the last four years I have streamlined the project to some extent: standardizing the number of bills covered to 22, adding three committee votes to the mix (to get 25 total votes, making math easier) and integrating any Special Sessions into the overall summary for the year. While the 2007 Special Session was an example of one where many key votes were taken, those since have only featured one or two key votes and could easily be folded into an overall summary for the year. Seeing that 2014 is an election year, the chances of a Special Session are all but nil and I wanted to get this out before the June 24 primary.

With the primary coming up and many members either retiring or seeking another office, I have arranged these legislators into three fields: those who are retiring, those running for another office, and those seeking re-election. The last group is arranged by district, in numerical order.

Since the 2013 version there were four personnel changes. Two State Senators – Rob Garagiola of District 15 and E.J. Pipkin of District 36 – resigned after the completion of the 2013 session. They were respectively replaced by Delegates Brian Feldman and Steve Hershey, creating the need to fill those Delegate vacancies. David Fraser-Hidalgo was appointed to serve in District 15 and Steven Arentz took over in District 36. All are seeking full terms in November but have contested primaries.

The method to my madness

The next portion of the monoblogue Accountability Project explains why votes are tabulated as they are.

The first few pages will cover the bills I used for this year's monoblogue Accountability Project and the rationale for my determining whether a vote is "right" or "wrong." 25 votes from each body (House of Delegates and Senate) are tallied, with 22 of them being floor votes and 3 votes coming from the committee on which a legislator serves. With a perfect possible score of 100 for getting all 25 votes correct, a correct vote is worth four points and an incorrect vote is worth none.

I also have a policy where I deduct points for being absent or ducking a vote. Since absences can't always be helped, the absentee is only docked one point for each. Those who are present and don't vote, however, have two points deducted. An absentee listed in the roll as "excused" receives no deduction – it's scored the same as an incorrect vote.

On that note, since some committee chairs have a policy of not voting while the Speaker of the House and Senate President do not participate in any committee, their lack of a vote is considered as excused and they are not penalized. On the other hand, Delegate Don Dwyer, who accepted the stripping of his committee assignment as one punishment for his DWI offense in 2013, was docked as if not voting for any of the committee votes, for a total six-point deduction.

There is also a policy in the House where a member can change his or her vote. If a member changes a vote from an incorrect vote to a correct vote, they get half-credit, or two points. Going the other way is docked at 1.5 times the value of the vote, or six points.

I consider myself a conservative with libertarian leanings so it's no surprise that Republicans in the General Assembly generally score higher than Democrats – although there are a few exceptions.

In this upcoming portion I will go through each of the votes I used, though it's worth noting the House and Senate occasionally voted on bills that were crossfiled. An example of crossfiling: in the 2014 session House Bill 359 (or HB359) and Senate Bill 75 (or SB75) are bills which essentially mirror each other, with one being introduced for consideration in each body. This year I used the same bills for each body, although they may be crossfiled versions, and featured the latest vote – if the House voted on its bill March 25 and the Senate bill April 2, I scored the bill based on the Senate bill vote. Thus, there were a few instances where I used a Senate bill vote for the House tally and vice versa. In most cases I use the last vote for each bill, which generally is a conference vote, but as I explain in the bill description I made an exception to the rule this year.

I also follow up on the current status of each measure. Unfortunately, most of these will become laws saddling the Maryland public with more unneeded taxes, fees, and regulations.

Floor votes used for the monologue Accountability Project

HB295: Maryland Minimum Wage Act of 2014 (Speaker, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: The CBO put out a report recently which suggested a federal minimum wage increase could idle as many as 1 million workers. With thousands of Maryland workers already hurting thanks to a jobless recovery, the time certainly wasn't right for an increase in the minimum wage. Personally I think the whole concept should be shelved, allowing the market to dictate wages.

Disposition: HB295 passed the House 87-47 and the Senate 34-13. It was signed into law by Governor O'Malley May 5.

HB297/SB332: Prekindergarten Expansion Act of 2014 (Speaker/President, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Studies have shown that expansion of education to children below the age of 5, generally done as part of a Head Start program, provides little benefit beyond the early grades. To me, this bill simply tries to insert more government control into a period of a child's life where he or she is better served with parents – if day care is needed, it should be in a less formal setting.

Disposition: SB332 passed the House 103-35 and HB297 passed the Senate 44-1. Only SB332 was signed by Governor O'Malley April 8.

HB354: Baltimore City – AIDS Prevention Sterile Needle and Syringe Exchange Program (Delegate Anderson)

Why I'd vote no: Wouldn't this be better served under private auspices? I realize it's not a large state expenditure – about $250,000 a year – but this was supposed to be a temporary pilot program twenty years ago. So much for temporary, and the problem isn't being solved.

Disposition: HB354 passed the House 84-51 and the Senate 41-6, and received the signature of Governor O'Malley May 5.

HB359/SB75: Alcoholic Beverages – Maximum Alcohol Content (Delegate Barkley/Senator Madaleno)

Why I'd vote no: Because it's none of the government's damn business how much alcohol is in a beverage. We got rid of Prohibition eighty years ago. Funny, this is the same bunch that decriminalized marijuana, too – see SB364 below.

Disposition: HB359 passed the Senate 39-8 while SB75 passed the House 91-43. Both were signed by Governor O'Malley May 5.

HB386/SB390: Criminal Law – Illegal Dumping and Litter Control Law – Driver's License – Points (Delegate Anderson/Baltimore City Senators)

Why I'd vote no: I fail to see why one should get points on their driver's license for a non-driving infraction, as this would. The real scary thing is that the initial iteration of this law made it an eight-point offense comparable to a DWI.

Disposition: HB386 passed the Senate 39-8 and SB390 passed the House 121-17. Only SB390 was signed by Governor O'Malley May 15.

HB553: Housing – Energy-Efficient Homes Construction Loan Program (Chair, Environmental Matters Committee by request of Department of Housing and Community Development)

Why I'd vote no: Another subsidy boondoggle. If someone wants to build an energy-efficient home private lenders should be all over it. Instead, the state has already appropriated $3 million to this idea.

Disposition: In a departure from the norm, I used the initial HB553 third reading vote (108-26) to score the bill, but it finally passed the House 131-3 and the Senate 43-4. It was signed by Governor O'Malley May 5.

HB579: Commissioner of Labor and Industry – Authority – Enforcement of Local Minimum Wage Laws (Delegate Kramer)

Why I'd vote no: The state sticks its nose into local business by allowing itself to enforce local laws. It's not their call – we really would prefer they butt out, not that I much like the minimum wage anyway (as I noted above.)

Disposition: HB579 passed the House 94-43 and Senate 35-12, and has met with the approval of Governor O'Malley on May 5.

HB621/SB700: Registration of Pesticides – Fee Increase – Disposition of Fees (Delegate Lafferty/Senator Manno)

Why I'd vote no: An extra $10 fee which goes to reporting pesticide use in the state? Why can't it be done without the extra fee? Just another $130,000 or so taken from businesses in Maryland, and once the reporting is done the fee will stay.

Disposition: HB621 passed the Senate 41-6 and SB700 passed the House 102-33. Both were signed by Governor O'Malley May 15.

HB727/SB232: Procurement – Prevailing Wage – Applicability (Delegate Olszewski/Senator Stone)

Why I'd vote no: It's a simple change which lowers the applicable percentage of state funding of school construction from 50% to 25%, departing from the otherwise standard state ratio of 50%. While the fiscal note argues this will add between 2% and 5% to the cost of newly-affected projects, other studies suggest a 10% increase. Either way, it's more money from local pockets for no real increase in construction quality.

Disposition: HB727 passed the Senate 32-15 while SB232 passed the House 92-43. Both got the signature of Governor O'Malley on May 5.

HB739: Maryland Estate Tax – Unified Credit (Speaker)

Why I'd vote yes: Yes! For once a bill I could support, even though it's a far more incremental step than I would prefer because it doesn't wipe out the estate tax entirely, nor does it move very quickly since it doesn't take full effect until 2019. It did reveal, however, just which denizens of the Left feel most strongly that all money is the government's and you're just granted temporary use while you're alive.

Disposition: HB739 passed the House 119-14 and Senate 36-10. Governor O'Malley was in no hurry to sign this tax relief and break a long streak of increases, but finally put pen to paper May 15.

HB834: Environment – Water Pollution Control – Penalty (Delegate Frush)

Why I'd vote no: I don't think raising the penalty is appropriate, particularly the maximum.

Disposition: HB834 passed the House 101-33 and Senate 45-2, with Governor O'Malley signing it April 8.

HB861: Agriculture – Easements – Renewable Energy Generation Facilities (Delegate Fraser-Hidalgo)

Why I'd vote no: The idea behind the agricultural easement is to preserve farmland for agricultural use. So if we're going to develop land in this way, doesn't it defeat the purpose?

Disposition: HB861 passed the House 111-23 and Senate 45-1, but its companion bill SB295 was the one signed into law by Governor O'Malley on May 5.

HB1164: Maryland College and Career-Ready Standards and Partnership for Assessment of Readiness for College and Careers (PARCC) Implementation Review Workgroup (Delegate Luedtke)

Why I'd vote no: Yes men appointed by the governor to apply standards being forced on us in the quest for more federal money. If Maryland wants to maintain their so-called number one national status in education, they would run, not walk, away from Common Core – which, by the way, was in the title of the bill until they changed it to “Maryland College and Career-Ready” standards. Same thing, with a name giving this turkey a better connotation.

Disposition: The conference committee version of HB1164 passed the House 137-0 and the Senate 46-1. But the original Third Reader version vote I used was 127-8 in the House, and the same 46-1 Senate vote. Governor O'Malley signed it April 14 so his yes men can get appointed.

HB1181: Fairness in Negotiations Act and the Public School Labor Relations Board – Sunset Repeal and Reporting Requirements (Delegate Hixson)

Why I'd vote no: The original bill should have never seen the light of day, and it was one I graded in 2010 (HB243/SB590). It was supposed to sunset in 2015 but this bill makes the PSLRB permanent. More hacks appointed by the governor, which will probably be revamped again should a Republican win election.

Disposition: HB1181 passed the House 98-39 and Senate 38-8, and unsurprisingly signed into law by Governor O'Malley May 5.

HB1349: Public Safety Diversity Act of 2014 (Delegate Braveboy)

Why I'd vote no: As originally written, the intent was to have all promotional and disciplinary decisions made by a board which was “racially and gender diverse,” but the bill was watered down to simply encourage recruitment through channels catering to “underrepresented communities.” How about just seeking the best people regardless?

Disposition: HB1349 passed the House 111-24 and the Senate 40-6 before being signed into law by Governor O'Malley April 14.

SB96: Health Insurance – Conformity With and Implementation of the Federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Chair, Finance Committee, by request of Department of Insurance Administration)

Why I'd vote no: The last thing we really need is to conform with Obamacare, since that seems to exist in an arbitrary and capricious manner depending on what side of the bed Barack Obama wakes up on (and his polling numbers combined with the Democrats' election prospects that day.) There was nothing wrong with the old system, but we've gone and scrapped it.

Disposition: SB96 passed the Senate 38-7 and the House 95-41 before being signed by Governor O'Malley April 14. I'm surprised it took that long.

SB134: Maryland Health Insurance Program – Access for Bridge-Eligible Individuals (President, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Otherwise known as the cover Anthony Brown's butt bill. The state screws up its insurance exchange, and in essence hands a blank check to those who will claim they tried but failed to get insurance through the exchange. Think any questions will be asked? The wild guess by the state is that the cost will be up to $12 million, but when are they ever right on something like this?

Disposition: SB134, an emergency bill, passed the Senate 34-7 and House 94-42. The ink was barely dry before Governor O'Malley signed it as the first Chapter of new law January 30.

SB170: Budget Bill (Fiscal Year 2015) (President, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: As has regularly been the case over the last several years, the Republicans put out a much more fiscally responsible alternative.

Disposition: SB170 passed the Senate 40-7 and House 98-37. By the Maryland Constitution it becomes law without the need for the Governor's signature approval.

SB171: Creation of a State Debt – Maryland Consolidated Capital Bond Loan of 2014, and the Maryland Consolidated Capital Bond Loans of 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012, and 2013 (President, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: It would really be nice if we would pay our bills in cash instead of adding $1.18 billion more in bonding debt. Sure, there are several worthwhile projects within but are they worth indenturing our children and eventually raising our property taxes to pay all this off?

Disposition: SB171 passed the Senate 44-3 and the House 99-35, and got the blessing of Governor O'Malley May 15.

SB172: Budget Reconciliation and Financing Act of 2014 (President, by request of Administration)

Why I'd vote no: Instead of passing budgets we can live with in the first place, we annually figure out how to make things balance by shifting funds and raiding from the future that which is needed now. Of course, next year we'll have to do this all over again to fix those holes, with the prospect of tax increases if a certain governor is elected.

Disposition: SB172 passed the Senate 41-6 and the House 97-38. It was signed by Governor O'Malley May 15.

SB212: Fairness for All Marylanders Act of 2014 (Senator Madaleno)

Why I'd vote no: This was a misnamed bill – it's more about providing special treatment for one tiny group of people at the expense of the rest of us. Perhaps the most egregious aspect of it – and how it got to be known as the “bathroom bill” - was the part where transgender people could use the bathroom of their choice depending on their mood that day. Granted, most would be fairly cool about it (or use family restrooms where available for maximum privacy) but there's too much prospect for people to take advantage for nefarious reasons.

Disposition: SB212 passed in the Senate 32-15 and the House 82-57 and it took until May 15 for Governor O'Malley to sign it. A referendum effort for repeal is being made; however, the bill was not tailored to take effect after a vote like the gay marriage bill was two years ago.

SB364: Criminal Law – Possession of Marijuana – Civil Offense (Senator Zirkin)

Why I'd vote yes: This is a rare instance where I stand against the majority of Republicans in the General Assembly. Simply put, I don't think it's the largest problem society faces if someone is in possession of a small amount of marijuana. In fact, depending on how laws in other states pan out, I think we should go farther.

To me, though, it was utter hypocrisy that we passed this law yet banned 190-proof alcohol (see HB359/SB75 above.)

Disposition: SB364 passed the Senate 34-8 and the House 78-55 before being signed by Governor O'Malley April 14.

House Committee votes used for the monologue Accountability Project

Note: Unless otherwise noted, all of these bills failed to advance out of committee. A “favorable” motion is for the bill to proceed, while an “unfavorable” motion is to stop consideration.

HB50: Stormwater Management – Watershed Protection and Restoration Program – Repeal (Delegate Norman)

Committee: Environmental Matters

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: It's a bill which should have never been passed in the first place because it established the “rain tax.”

HB74: State Development Plan – Repeal (Delegate Smigiel)

Committee: Environmental Matters

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: Counties should be able to guide their own development, not be dictated to by Annapolis. This bill was introduced in 2013 as well, with a similar result.

HB218: State Personnel – Collective Bargaining – Service Fee Exemption – Charity Selection Period (Delegate McDermott)

Committee: Appropriations

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: It made sense to me that an employee should have a little time to ponder his choice of charitable organization to give his or her would-be service fee to, given that its a toll extracted from hard-working Marylanders who have the misfortune of belonging to an avocation falling under the auspices of Big Labor.

HB374: Labor and Employment – Training Wage for New Employees – Establishment and Payment (Delegate McConkey)

Committee: Economic Matters

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: It would be a step in the right direction to allow the market to determine wages. A training wage seems appropriate for a first-time job holder.

HB435: Labor and Employment – Labor Organizations – Right to Work (Delegate W. Miller)

Committee: Economic Matters

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: I wouldn't just vote no, I'd vote "hell no!" Maryland should join the truly progressive ranks of states which allow worker freedom.

HB510: Sustainable Communities Tax Credit Program – Extension and Alteration (Chair, Ways and Means Committee, by request of Department of Planning)

Committee: Ways and Means

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote no: It's mainly because of the appropriation, although some of the changes in the law to target the credit bother me as well.

Disposition: This bill passed the House 111-20 and Senate 46-0, and will likely be signed into law by Governor O'Malley. Look for tax breaks to cronies for the next three years.

HB551: Vehicle Laws – Speed Monitoring and Work Zone Speed Control Systems – Repeal (Delegate Smigiel)

Committee: Environmental Matters

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: Because speed cameras are not only (as I see it) a violation of my Sixth Amendment rights because I cannot face my accuser, they are simply about raping the taxpayer. If local jurisdictions were really concerned about safety they would staff a traffic officer at each school because that approach would catch many truly reckless drivers – but not nearly as much money.

HB774: Alcoholic Beverages – Micro-Breweries – Annual Production Limit (Delegate Haddaway-Riccio)

Committee: Economic Matters

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: At the risk of being a little self-serving (since I am a beer drinker and happen to like craft brews) the idea behind this law was to assist a local business in its growth plan. (Several sponsors represent Wicomico County.) Yet it would have allowed any other brewery in a similar situation to expand operations. My guess is that the liquor lobby and standard beer distributors lobbied hard on this one.

HB785: Drones – Unauthorized Surveillance (Delegate George)

Committee: Judiciary

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: I read this as common-sense civil liberties protection. In an era where drones can be judge, jury, and executioner this is necessary legislation.

HB841: State Board of Professional Counselors and Therapists and State Board of Social Work Examiners – Grounds for Denying Licenses and Certificates (Delegate Smigiel)

Committee: Health and Government Operations

Motion: Favorable

Why I'd vote yes: While it is almost duplicative of current law, this measure would have extended safeguards to include sex offenders and those who have issues in other states.

HB1011: Maryland Liberty Preservation Act of 2014 (Delegate Dwyer)

Committee: Health and Government Operations

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: Prohibits the state from assisting in detention of those who run afoul of the National Defense Authorization Act, which is ripe for abuse.

HB1074: Fourth Amendment Protection Act (Delegate Smigiel)

Committee: Judiciary

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: It sends a message to the government regarding warrantless snooping of electronic records, working loosely in tandem with HB1011.

HB1162: Statewide Information Technology Master Plan – Security Policy (Delegate Hough)

Committee: Health and Government Operations

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: It's a common-sense safeguard against embedded security threats in information technology equipment and software. You would think this would be a no-brainer, right? Think again.

HB1181: Fairness in Negotiations Act and the Public School Labor Relations Board – Sunset Repeal and Reporting Requirements (Delegate Hixson)

Committee: Ways and Means

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote no: My reasoning is above, as this was also a House vote I used. There were very few contested votes in this committee so I was forced to use it twice.

HB1185: Criminal Law – Crimes Against Property – Right to Defend Property (Delegate Parrott)

Committee: Judiciary

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: As the proposed law was written, it strengthened current protection for those who were defending themselves against a perceived threat based on an unlawful entry, eliminating a “duty to retreat.” It should have passed easily.

HB1203: Institutions of Higher Education – Open Housing Policies – Prohibited (Delegate Parrott)

Committee: Appropriations

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: I'll grant that it's been thirty years since I went to college, and we thought then we were bohemian to live in a co-ed dorm with women on the floor above at a time when most dorms on my campus were single-sex. Surely college housing has changed in that time, and it's somewhat leaning toward a nanny state issue, but if couples of opposite genders really want to live together there are ample off-campus housing opportunities available.

HB1340: Education – Calculation of State Appropriation – Information Transparency in Budget Books (Delegate McMillan)

Committee: Appropriations

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: Why shouldn't this information be commonly provided? Is there something to hide in the way certain counties may be making out like bandits while others get hosed?.

HB1442: Maryland Transit Authority – Free Ridership for State Employees (Delegate Oaks)

Committee: Ways and Means

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote no: They should pay the freight like the rest of us. Something I learned in researching this bill is that Executive Branch employees already have this perk – the bill would extend it to Legislative and Judicial Branch employees.

Disposition: This bill passed out of committee and cleared the full House by a 92-42 vote, but no Senate action was taken. Speaking of the Senate...

Senate Committee votes used for the monologue Accountability Project

Aside from SB232, all of the other bills failed to advance out of committee. Again, a “favorable” motion is for the bill to proceed, while an “unfavorable” motion is to stop consideration.

SB80: All-Terrain Vehicles – Protective Equipment (Senator Benson)

Committee: Judicial Proceedings

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote yes: The nanny state was thwarted on this one. Essentially it would be a helmet law for ATVs, a case where it should be up to the operator.

SB82: Vehicle Laws – Prohibition Against Smoking in Vehicle Containing Young Child (Senator Forehand)

Committee: Judicial Proceedings

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote no: I think I have used this vote before for a similar bill, as Senator Forehand introduced this proposal four years in a row. Scary thing is that it only lost by one vote this time. Regardless, it's an unnecessary intrusion into personal affairs.

SB151: Administrative Procedure Act – Fiscal Impact Statements for Proposed Regulations (Senator Colburn)

Committee: Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: This would have expanded the scope of existing law to mandate impact statements for all regulations, not just emergency ones. If it slows down new regulation, I'm all for it.

SB176: Income Tax Credit – Agricultural Land – Diminution in Value of Real Property (Senator Glassman)

Committee: Budget and Taxation

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: While the bill is a little complicated, the idea is valid. Those who own agricultural land and get hosed by the state via either a Tier Map or nutrient management plans should get some sort of return for their trouble, since it's likely their land loses value due to these regulations.

SB232: Procurement – Prevailing Wage – Applicability (Senator Stone)

Committee: Finance

Motion: Favorable with Amendment.

Why I'd vote no: One committee vote the other way could have killed this bill. It's a bill I used as a regular vote, but thanks to a lack of Finance votes this did double duty.

Disposition: SB232 passed the Senate 32-15 and House 92-43, and got the signature of Governor O'Malley on May 5. Again, just one changed vote would have killed this. Elections matter, people.

SB271: Income Tax Credit – Home Instruction Expenses (Senator Jacobs)

Committee: Budget and Taxation

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: Since we can't get the proper disposition of money following the child in this state, this bill would have been a small step in the right direction for those parents who choose to homeschool. The state could do without $25 million.

SB317: Income Tax – Subtraction Modification – Stormwater Remediation Fee (Rain Tax) (Senator Simonaire)

Committee: Budget and Taxation

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: The principle of this was similar to that of SB176 – if you are financially injured by a state mandate, this is a way to be made whole. It would have meant a small loss of revenue for those counties affected and the state, but more money in the pockets of property owners.

SB410: Tanning Devices – Use By Minors – Prohibition (Senator Raskin)

Committee: Finance

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote yes: The nanny state again reared its ugly head with this bill, which probably never should have seen the light of day. The same people who wouldn't bat an eye at a pregnant minor exercising her right to "choice" voted for this – yet it only failed by one vote.

SB421: General Assembly – Housing Allowance – Restriction on Use (Senator Kittleman)

Committee: Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote no: To me, this only makes sense – those who can commute with relative ease shouldn't need a housing allowance. There was an exemption placed on the last two weeks of session, which was more than fair.

SB464: Stormwater Management – Watershed Protection and Restoration Program – Repeal (Senator Jennings)

Committee: Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs

Motion: Unfavorable

Why I'd vote no: The "rain tax" should have never seen the light of day, and this would have repealed it.

SB773: Automated Motor Vehicles – Titling, Registration, and Rules of the Road (Senator Ferguson)

Committee: Judicial Proceedings

Motion: Unfavorable.

Why I'd vote yes: As I read this, no one would be allowed to "drive" an automated vehicle unless it was registered in a certain way with the state. To me, it should be treated as any other vehicle.

SB1068: Procurement – Prevailing Wage – School Construction (Senator Brinkley)

Committee: Finance

Motion: Favorable.

Why I'd vote yes: Instead of a bill like SB232 above, which lowers the threshold for prevailing wage, this bill would have increased it. I'd prefer to scrap it altogether, but this bill was a start.

Legislative Accolades and Admonishments

Each year I give out a series of awards and admonishments to deserving members of the Maryland General Assembly based on their voting records. The list of this year's winners will be enhanced by a list of prior winners, with those in bold being active members of the Maryland General Assembly who are seeking another term.

D. Page Elmore RINO Hunttee Award

Page was a nice guy but sided far too often with the Democrats in his last four years in the House of Delegates. After Elmore received this admonishment four straight years, I decided to name the award after him because I often thought of him as someone who tried to blur the distinction between parties.

This year we have a new “champion,” and the bad part is that he's a shoo-in for another term because he was unopposed in the primary. The Democrats must be pleased with him because he voted with them more often than the GOP, so they put up no opposition either. The Republican with (by far) the lowest rating, who bent over backward to party with the other party, is Senator George Edwards.

It should be noted that retiring Delegate Bill Frank has a lower total score, but that is due to absences deducting from his total. Out of 11 votes where Frank was present, he got 8 correct.

Top (Blue) Dog Award

This award is given to the Democrat who ranks the highest in my ratings, showing signs that there is a small but rarely-seen centrist element to the Maryland Democratic Party. It's the way the aisle should be crossed.

Returning to the podium after a six-year absence, Delegate Kevin Kelly is the only previous winner to seek another term. He and RINO Huntee George Edwards share the same district.

Previous winners: John Wood, Jr. (2007, 2009-13), Joseph Minnick (2008), Kevin Kelly (2007-08)

Legislative All-Stars

Each year I give this award to those legislators who either rank atop their legislative body and/or score above 90 on the ratings. If winners have won before, previous years are noted in parentheses.

Sadly, I have only two this year – and for one, this is her swan song.

The 2014 winners are Senator Nancy Jacobs (2011) and Delegate Michael Smigiel (2012). Jacobs is retiring after this term.

Previous winners still serving: Senators Joe Getty (2011), Stephen Hershey (2012, as a Delegate), and Christopher Shank (2008, 2011) as well as Delegates Kathy Afzali (2012), Gail Bates (2011), John Cluster (2012), Don Dwyer (2009), Mark Fisher (2013), Glen Glass (2012), Jay Jacobs (2013), Susan Krebs (2013), Susan McComas (2013), Tony McConkey (2012), Pat McDonough (2009), Warren Miller (2009, 2011-13), Tony O'Donnell (2007, 2009, 2013), Charles Otto (2012-13), Neil Parrott (2013), Justin Ready (2013), Kelly Schulz (2012), and Kathy Szeliga (2012).

Previous winners from thus term who are retiring (or retired): Senator E. J. Pipkin (2013) and Delegates Bill Frank (2012), and Nancy Stocksdale (2013).

And finally...the Legislator of the Year

Believe it or not, in the seven previous years I have done the monologue Accountability Project I have never had a repeat winner. But this year finds my first one, and the good news is that he's running for re-election. With the top score of 94 points, my 2014 Legislator of the Year is Delegate Joseph Boteler III. He previously won the award back in 2009 and thus becomes my first two-time winner.

He joins a roster of previous winners which includes now-Congressman Andy Harris (2007), Anthony O'Donnell (2008), Don Dwyer (2010), Michael Hough (2011), Edward Reilly (2012), and Wayne Norman (2013).

Conclusion

I can repeat what I said in 2013: to be perfectly honest, this year's General Assembly session was a disaster.

But my complaints about an underperforming General Assembly from 2013 were even louder this year. For the second year in a row, it was so bad in the Senate that I was forced to use a unanimous vote because it was on a budget bill I feel is important to include each year, showing why I'm again forced to call them the "gutless Senate." Too many bills had meaningful minorities in the House only to see them sweep through the Senate.

And again I was plagued by a lack of good committee votes in certain places. It's really hard to find good bills from the financial and appropriations end. That's why I had to count a couple votes twice for certain committee members.

Overall, this was a terrible year. Out of 55 Republican members of the General Assembly, only 13 exceeded their overall career scores, while 36 fell short and 6 were even. It's why I had just two Legislative All-Stars after getting so many last year. Too many got wobbly as the election drew near.

We all know this is the end of the 2011-14 term, and a lot of members have chosen not to return. In the Senate there are five who are retiring and three seeking other office. (Verna Jones-Rodwell announced her retirement last month but is still on the ballot.) The House has 18 retirements and 25 trying for another office, with 13 among the 25 trying for a Senate seat. So the potential is already there for mass turnover, not counting the upsets sure to come.

This is the time for which the monologue Accountability Project is meant. This all started because I wanted to prove there was more than a dime's worth of difference between parties and between individual officeholders. So let's take a look at some individual races to illustrate the possible effects.

In Senate District 4, incumbent Senator David Brinkley is challenged by Delegate Michael Hough in the GOP primary. In terms of lifetime score, Hough has a 15-point bulge, 87-72. It's even more pronounced this year as Hough trounced Brinkley 84-56. Out of 25 votes, there were seven which potentially could have been changed in the correct direction with Hough in the Senate.

On the other hand, differences can be slight. In Senate District 37, the choice between Delegate Addie Eckardt and incumbent Senator Richard Colburn could be personality – Colburn has a slight 70-69 edge in lifetime score but Eckardt had a better 2014 at 54-52.

But the biggest potential for good comes in those contests where a strong conservative Republican meets a liberal Democrat. Take Senate District 38 for example: the incumbent Senator Jim Mathias talks a good game, but his voting record is dismal: a 2014 score of 19 points dragged his career total down to 28.

On the other hand, Delegate Michael McDermott, who boasts a 2014 score of 80 and an even better career score of 85, could become the Senator from District 38 and improve its representation dramatically. In the two seats Republicans lost in 2010 – Mathias winning in one, and Ronald Young beating Alex Mooney in the other – the scores went down from 72 from the retiring Lowell Stoltzfus in District 38 and 88 from Mooney to 28 for Mathias and a pathetic 7 for Ronald Young. We as conservatives need to reverse that trend.

Accountability charts for both the House and Senate begin on the next page. This year is an "all hands on deck" year for conservatives – let the other side sit at home this time.
